Dry Whole Milk - U.S.

Report 12 - Released on March 21, 2019

National dry whole milk free on board (f.o.b.) spot prices are unchanged on a stable market. Most trade are driven by contractual requirements thus, sales in the spot market have been generally lethargic throughout the week. Production is slightly up ahead of the upcoming spring holiday needs, while inventories are steady to slightly higher. The national demand for dry whole milk is reported as seasonally good. However, the international interest is scarce as dry whole milk price remains above the international WMP values.
