Casein - National Casein Report for U.S. Imports

Report 31 - Released on July 30, 2020

This is a slow time of year in casein markets, especially in New Zealand. Prices for acid casein and rennet casein are steady, reflecting the slow trading. Regular buyers generally plan to be contracted for anticipated needs. This keeps spot markets quiet. New production tends to be available from the EU at this time of year, more likely to be rennet than acid casein. New Zealand production is awaiting increased milk availability.

Prices for: Spot Sales And Up to 3 Month Contracts, Free on Board - Warehouse, Non-Restricted, All Mesh Sizes, Conventional, and Edible Casein
