Low/medium heat nonfat dry milk (NDM) prices decreased at both ends of the range and mostly price series as bearish price movement continued for week 23. Domestic demand is steady, but buyers are not buoying prices from recent weeks. Export demand is lighter. Sellers indicate buyers in Mexico are less active. Production schedules are stable. NDM generally remains a higher priority than skim milk powder and dry buttermilk for any open dryer time. Spot load availability is somewhat tight. High heat NDM prices decreased at both ends of the range. Demand varies from moderate to stronger. Production schedules remain mixed.
